

Meadows First School - Curriculum Rationale, Vision and Ethos

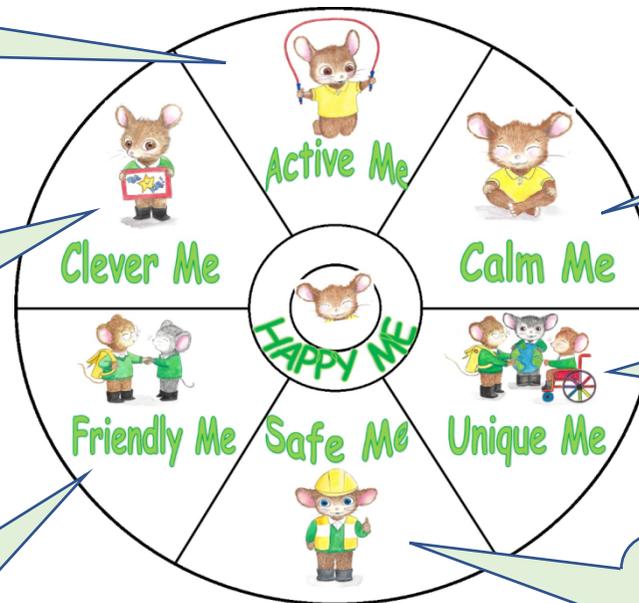

Our curriculum starts with the holistic child, acknowledging their unique needs, and aims to inspire a love of learning, as well as equip children with the skills and knowledge necessary for the next stage of their learning journey. As a Rights Respecting School, we want pupils to be fully prepared for life in the modern world, and feel empowered to make a difference as global citizens to the world in which they live. Our theme-based curriculum embeds deep learning; our children are encouraged to think critically and to make links in their learning. Our curriculum embeds the values of our Well-being Wheel so that children are supported to become resilient, confident and curious; we firmly believe that a healthy mind and body will impact positively on learning. We also acknowledge that the environment in which children learn has the potential to transform the way pupils learn; at the same time giving powerful messages about school's high expectations, values and beliefs. At Meadows, we strive for very high standards ensuring pupils achieve the best possible outcomes. We have divided our curriculum into 5 main principles, and the well-being wheel is embedded within these.

"Caring, Sharing and for Preparing Life"

Context: School's IDACI score indicates that 20% of its pupils are living in the 30% most deprived areas nationally (2017). 21% of children are on our vulnerable list. Catchment is predominantly white British (10% ethnicity). Baseline reception shows that at least half the children start below typical with 25% well below. 2018:27% identified with significant S&L needs on entry. Pupil premium- 17%. SEN; 22% (3% EHCP).

	Unique child	Positive relationships	Key knowledge and skills	Love of Learning	Global Citizens
Aims	The curriculum at Meadows is child centred, and character building (if it's not good for our pupils, we don't do it). Children are given the tools to be confident, resilient and independent.	The curriculum at Meadows supports the development of positive relationships and pupils' understanding of their well-being, such as keeping safe, being physically healthy and having a healthy mind.	Our broad curriculum has a clear focus on developing a deep understanding of the key skills of speaking and listening, reading, writing and maths, through real experiences and a themed approach, where critical thinking is embedded.	The curriculum at Meadows will provide pupils with memorable and enjoyable purposeful learning experiences and encourage a thirst for knowledge and development of skills across all subjects.	Pupils will be empowered to affect changes that can make a difference. The curriculum enables children to think about their community and the wider world
