

Purple Mash At Home

You can log in to purple mash by using the link below...Putting this link into a browser on a tablet, laptop or desktop will take you to our school's portal where you can login by clicking on the purple key in the top right-hand corner and then selecting your child's class and name. They will need to input their password which can be found in their reading record/planner.

Alternatively, you can just search purple mash into a search engine and select find my school's login page on the first page, search for meadows first school, then select and use your child's username and password details which can be found in their reading record/planner. The username must be typed correctly which will then trigger the picture/number password to pop up for you to type in.

Once logged in, you will be taken to the home screen where you can access all of the purple mash resources, it's worth looking around as there are lots of fun things you can do anytime!

If your teacher sets you a specific task, there will be an alert with a purple bell at the top. Occasionally this does not always show, if you do not see a bell and you want to check to see if your teacher has set a task, you can click the red 2dos section at the top. Here you will see if you can start any new assignments.

Any task a teacher sets will have written or recorded instructions. You will be taken to the task to complete your work. When you complete your work, you click on the white arrow in the red box in the top right-hand corner and select save and exit. There will be a prompt to say that the work has been saved with your name. You will then be taken to the 2dos screen where you can either go back and continue to edit your work or you can hand it in. Handing your work in will send your teacher your work where they can mark it, comment if necessary and even ask you to make some changes. Handing in your work is the best way your teacher can see what you have been doing so do remember to hand in!

It may prove useful for teachers to email information or links to useful websites via your 2email system. If your teacher sends you an email, it will pop up as an alert with the purple bell on your start menu. Here you can click the message and read what information your teacher has sent you.

It may prove easier for teachers to post information directly onto the school website so do please check daily for any new information .

Thank you for your support during this unusual time, we do hope that Purple Mash will enable you to support your child at home and allow them to continue to access their education until we return to school in the future.

MINI MASH

Children in Reception and Nursery now have access to purple mash too. The EYFS stage version of purple mash is called Mini Mash and is accessible by either following the steps mentioned on page one and selecting minimash from the home screen, or by typing in the url in the box above. All children in EYFS have individual logins too. Specific work will not be set through purple mash from EYFS however we encourage you to explore mini mash and use all of the fun games and programs available as an additional tool to help support your child at home.
